

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

Falling temperatures and light wind will lead to the formation of locally dense fog patches which will come and go through Wednesday evening and overnight into Thursday morning. In areas where any showers come inland and fall onto frozen surfaces, ice will be an additional hazard.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice and Fog

Valid from 20:10 on Wed, 21st Jan 2015 until 11:00 on Thu, 22nd Jan 2015

Areas of dense freezing fog will affect Northern Ireland on Wednesday evening and overnight into Thursday morning leading to marked reductions in visibility. Ice will also be an additional hazard where showers on Wednesday evening affect the north and west, and perhaps again along the east coast first thing Thursday morning.

The public should be aware of the possible disruption to transport.
